Global Credit Research - 23 May 2011

New York, May 23, 2011 – Moody's announced today that its revised methodology for money market fund (MMF) ratings is now effective and has been applied to the 291 money market funds the agency rates (a link to the rating list is provided below). These actions conclude a process initiated in September 2010 when Moody's published a Request for Comment proposing a new methodology for money market funds and follows the publication of Moody's revised methodology on March 10, 2011 entitled, "Moody's Revised Money Market Fund Ratings and Symbols".

Moody's revised money fund methodology incorporates the following changes: 1) Ratings determination based on two distinct analytic assessments – the Portfolio Credit Profile (based on the credit quality of the fund's assets), and Portfolio Stability Profile (including market and liquidity risks) – and consideration of sponsor quality; 2) Introduction of a new set of rating symbols to reflect the distinct meaning of Moody's money market fund ratings compared to Moody's credit ratings on long-term bonds.

Ratings Enhancements

There is now even greater clarity around ratings information on issuer pages with the addition of:

► Covered Bonds: You can now use a bank's Family Tree to find all of the covered bonds issued by that bank. You will also find the covered bonds analyst and research included on the bank issuer page (see screenshot of covered bond example).

► Money Market Funds: A new rating scale has been introduced for our money market funds. For more information about this initiative, please consult our recent press release.

► RMBS Regional Classifications: Our RMBS filters now more accurately reflect the regional distinctions in RMBS types.
